TO HELP US REMEMBER: Young ones - Matthew 12:50 "Whoever does the will of my Father in heaven is my brother, and sister, and mother."
Older ones - I John 3:10

TO CHALLENGE TEEN THOUGHT: The Egyptians who protected their cattle and slaves showed that they believed God's word of warning. In a two-page paper entitled "The Marks of My Faith," tell what you do to demonstrate your faith in God.

TIPS TO TEACHING PARENTS: This week we could offer you a dozen helpful hints. We could discuss the proper use of memory verses, or we could explore the practice of prayer in-family study. There are countless finer techniques of storytelling and general teaching that would be worth our notice. But none of this would be even slightly profitable to you if you are not even trying to teach your children.

Churches have devised many programs and methods for educating children religiously. But all of them stand or fall on the parent's willingness to work with their own children. Until we find some way to tear parents from television, social activities, and other things, no teaching program on this earth will benefit the church's children.

God holds us responsible for the religious education of our own children. Regardless of what the church may offer, God expects us to introduce our children to Him. As long as other things are more important to us than this, our children will never know much about God.
